TEMPORARY RESIDENCE PERMIT
CHECKLIST AND FACT SHEET

Applicant's name

BUILDING PERMIT Confirmation by the Building Official that a permit has been issued for repair of existing residence or construction of new residence
ZONING If the temporary residence will be a recreational vehicle, confirmation by the Zoning Enforcement Officer that the property is not located in the Flood Hazard Overlay District
TAXES Confirmation by the Tax Collector that property taxes are current
PERMIT FEE ($1.00)

Who must obtain this permit?

If your permanent home is uninhabitable because of fire, flood, or other casualty, or if you are building a new house, you and your immediate family may live in a mobile or manufactured home or a recreational vehicle on the property where the construction is taking place, as long as you obtain a permit from the Town Council and as long as the mobile or manufactured home or recreational vehicle complies with the requirements in Chapter 15.02 of the Code of Ordinances.

You are allowed to keep the mobile or manufactured home or recreational vehicle on the property for no longer that one year.

If your temporary residence will be a mobile or manufactured home, you will also need to get a building permit for installation of the home on the property.

The mobile or manufactured home or recreational vehicle must have a toilet, a tub or shower, and toilet, and facilities for sleeping and cooking, and it must be connected to utilities.

Sewage must be disposed of in compliance with DEM regulations. You may need to have a DEM-approved onsite wastewater treatment system installed or an existing system upgraded. If you plan to connect to an existing onsite wastewater treatment system, you will need to get a Certificate of Conformance from DEM. Before you apply for a Temporary Residence Permit, you should speak to the Building Official to be sure you understand the local and state permits you will need in order to live in the temporary residence.
